BASS COAST SUMMARY OF JOB VACANCIES

OCTOBER 2017 – Overview

Nationally, the average number of internet and newspaper job advertisements rose 1.38% in October and are now 12.46% higher than twelve months ago (seasonally adjusted).¹

The Bass Coast Shire recorded a total of 168 newspaper job advertisements in October, an average of 35.15 per week.

The Hospitality sector recorded the highest number of advertised newspaper job advertisements in October advertising 33% of all published vacancies, followed by Health & Community Services (24%) and Administration & Support Services (8%).

| % CHANGE AVERAGE NO. OF JOB ADVERTISEMENTS COMPARISON (JULY-OCTOBER 2017 OVER JULY-OCTOBER 2016) | |
|---|--------|
| BASS COAST REGION | 18.86% |
| WEST GIPPSLAND REGION | 14.81% |

For the study period July-October 2017 over July-October 2016 the Bass Coast region recorded a rise of 18.86% in the average number of published newspaper job advertisements; this compares with a rise in the West Gippsland region of 14.81% over the same period.

METHODOLOGY

The Bass Coast Shire data collected for October 2017 has been obtained from the local newspapers the “South Gippsland Sentinel – Times” and the “Phillip Island and San Remo Advertiser” published in October 2017. The “Sentinel” is published on Tuesdays or Wednesdays and the “Advertiser” on Wednesdays. Some of the job advertisements appear in both papers. As most job advertisements appear in the “Sentinel”, any duplicate advertisements have been noted from the positions advertised in the “Advertiser”. amjproject statistical counts have been adjusted to remove duplications and repeat advertisements.

The “South Gippsland Sentinel – Times” covers Bass Coast Shire and South Gippsland Shire and also receives job advertisements from other neighbouring Shires. Not all job locations are stated.

As some months may have five weeks of job advertisements one year and four in others, a straight comparison of monthly figures can be misleading. To clarify this, the average number of jobs per week within each month has been used.

The job advertisements counted have been sorted into twenty two (22) categories showing which industry sector they represent and are detailed on a monthly basis.

The newspaper job advertisement figures sourced from the ANZ Banking Group Ltd for Victoria and Australia ceased issue October 2016. In lieu of this information a West Gippsland newspaper job advertisements benchmark has been created using the average weekly number of newspaper job advertisements from the West Gippsland catchment area published per month with duplicate and repeat advertisements removed.

The following chart details, where known, which jobs were located in the Bass Coast Shire. Not all vacancies state their location and others are from neighbouring Shires. All job advertisements have been included regardless of location, based on the premise that the region acts as a cohesive workforce and thus gives a more accurate picture of work opportunities for people living within the Bass Coast Shire.
